Big Screen, Small Screen

VOCABULARY FOCUS

➔ What kind of movies do you enjoy and what do you find appealing about them?

1) In pairs, look at the box of informal words used to describe movies. Which ones do you know? Try to guess what kinds of movies the unfamiliar words refer to.

2) Some people have joined an online movie club. Read their postings.

chick flick
B-movie

tearjerker
mainstream

blockbuster
indie

be a sucker for (sth)
= (informal) have trouble resisting something

I'm a sucker for any kind of action movie. I love the big blockbusters with lots of explosions and other things going on. Unfortunately, my girlfriend prefers a good tearjerker – she says it's healthy to cry sometimes. We usually strike a compromise: one week she picks a movie, the next week I get to choose.

(independent film)

Basically I don't like big budget mainstream movies. They're so predictable! I prefer the smaller, indie films. Foreign films are great, too, especially when they're shot on some exotic location. There's only one drawback: I don't like to read those subtitles on the screen! Too distracting!

Chick flick – (slang) movie targeted at a female audience

I enjoy horror or suspense films. On the one hand, I can't stand the tension – it's too nerve-wracking. On the other hand, they're very exciting. Don't tell anyone, but I'd have to say romantic comedies are at the top of my list. I know that they're chick flicks, but they're a kind of guilty pleasure for me.

I have small grandchildren, so I usually see those wholesome films that are "suitable for the entire family." I love my family, but my real interest lies with B-movies. My favorite is Fantastic Creature from Beyond. Most people haven't heard of it, but it's terrific! (I'd tell about it, but I don't want to spoil the ending!)

Peppa's Christmas

I'm Peppa Pig.
This is my little brother George.
This is Mummy Pig.
And this is Daddy Pig.
Peppa Pig.

It's Christmas Eve. Peppa and George are going to post their letters to Father Christmas.

Here are Peppa's friends.

Race you to the post box. Yahoo...
The children are all posting letters to Father Christmas.

What have you all asked Father Christmas for?

A scooter.
A toy spaceship.
A little guitar.
A toy mouse.
A skipping rope.
A trumpet.
A bat and a ball.
George has asked for a toy train.
And I would love a yoyo.

It's Mr.Zebra the postman.

My goodness. A lot of post today.
They're all our letters to Father Christmas.
It's very important that Father Christmas gets them. He lives at the North Pole.
Yes, I can see that.
Well, if I'm off to the north pole today, I can't stand around chattering.
Bye-bye.

Peppa, George...
We are off to get the Christmas tree.
Hooray!
Is everybody ready?
Yes, Peppa Pig.
Then, let's go!
This is Ms.Rabbit's tree shop.
Hello, Ms.Rabbit. Hello, there.
We'd like to buy a tree, please.
What sort are you looking for?

Solemn a couple of lines later, Proctor shouts: "I can not speak, but I will doubt, every moment judged by lies, as if I delivered in a court when I entered this house!" This, along with the next two sentences, connects the domestic disputes of the Proctions to a judicial case (which foreshirts the witch tests and establishes comparisons). Comparisons).

Act 2. In this act, we learn more details about the accused that paint a clearer picture of the influence of reputation and social standing on the patterns of accusations. In 1691, a group of girls from Salem, Massachusetts accused an Indian slave named Tituba of witchcraft, igniting a hunt for witches that left 19 men and women hanged, one man pressed to death, and over 150 more people in prison awaiting a trial. In this lesson, students will explore the characteristics of the Puritan community in Salem, learn about the Salem Witchcraft Trials, and ...
